

From: Timothy A. Cartwright, Center for High Throughput Computing
University of Wisconsin–Madison
1210 West Dayton Street, Madison, WI 53706
United States

To: Roy Chartier, Cancer Computer – The Supercomputer for Cancer Research
302 - 80 Aberdeen Street
Ottawa, Ontario K1S 5R5
Canada

Date: 7 November 2019

Roy,

Thank you for your recent contribution of ten HP ProLiant DL360 servers. Your contribution was made for the benefit of the Open Science Grid (OSG) and the University of Wisconsin–Madison Center for High Throughput Computing (CHTC). Please be assured that we have received your contribution and it will be put to use in the manner you have specified.

You may consider this letter to be your official receipt from CHTC for the property described above. This contribution is made with the stipulation that it be used for the benefit of science via the OSG.

The U.S. Internal Revenue Service (IRS) further requires us to state that you have received no goods or services in exchange for this contribution, or the value of any items received in exchange for this contribution falls within the definition of “low cost articles” under section 513(h)(2) of the IRS Code.

We want you to know that we are most grateful for this gift. Less than 20% of the total University budget now comes from the State of Wisconsin, and private support — such as yours — is helping us maintain and enhance the University.

Thank you for your generosity!

Sincerely,

Timothy A. Cartwright
Deputy Executive Director, Open Science Grid